Cale Jahn of Cyril, Okla., Completes Internship with A Bar Ranch, Claremore

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK, July 21, 2018 – Cale Jahn, Cyril, Okla. was selected to intern with the A Bar Ranch, owned by Mike and Martha Armitage in Claremore, Okla.

The Armitage Family partnered with the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Foundation (OCF), a charitable arm of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association (OCA) to provide a positive and comprehensive learning experience to a student with a desire to stay engaged in beef cattle production. At the conclusion of the internship, Jahn will receive a $2,000 scholarship funded by the OCF.

Jahn has spent most of his summer at the A Bar Ranch gaining hands-on ranch and marketing experience. He also has experienced some of the challenges faced by producers and the important role that the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association plays in the industry. He did make occasional trips to the OCA headquarters to help with the annual convention and other activities.

Jahn is a senior at Oklahoma State University pursuing a degree in Agribusiness with a Real Estate/Appraisal minor.

"The Oklahoma Cattlemen's Foundation internship program is an opportunity for ranches to employ and educate exceptional students to keep them involved in agriculture," said Weston Givens, OCA President. "We appreciate the Armitage family for partnering with us on this program and helping the Foundation to accomplish our mission."

The Oklahoma Cattlemen's Foundation was created to provide a charitable trust for the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association and Oklahoma Junior Cattlemen's Association. When you support the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Foundation, you support beef cattle educational programs, research projects in cooperation with Oklahoma State University, educational scholarships for Oklahoma's 4-H and FFA youth and the preservation of the Oklahoma beef cattle industry and its traditions.
